

Your privacy is very important to us. This notice explains our online information collection practices and the choices available to you about the way your information is used at our website.

INFORMATION WE COLLECT We do not collect personally identifiable information about you (your name, telephone, address, e-mail, etc.) unless you provide us that information when you fill request some information from us, if you register to subscribe to a newsletter, or if you submit an employment application in response to a job posting on our website. We do automatically collect certain non-personal information when you visit our website, such as the type of browser and operating system you are using, and the domain name of your internet service provider (such as Google).

COLLECTION OF INFORMATION BY THIRD PARTY SITES. Like many other commercial websites, our site contains links to other sites whose information collection practices may be different than ours. Users should consult the other sites' privacy notices, as we do not have any control over any information that may be submitted to or collected by such third parties.

COOKIES. A cookie is a text-only string of information that a website transfers to the "cookies" file of the browser on your computer's hard disk in order that the website can remember you when you return for another visit to the site. A cookie contains the name of the domain from which the cookie originated, how long the cookie will remain active, and a randomly generated unique number to track pages you have visited. Every time you visit our site, we send you a cookie in order to track traffic to our site. Cookies may be used to enable the personalization features of our site (you can recall recently-viewed pages, and have information that you have previously provided be filled in automatically instead of having to fill in registration questionnaires every time), and to compile anonymous aggregate data that allow us to determine how visitors use our site and help us improve our offerings on the website. We may use session cookies (temporary cookies that remain in the cookie file of your browser until you leave the site) and persistent cookies (remain in your browser for a longer period of time, depending on the "lifetime" of the cookie) on this website.

If you prefer not to receive cookies while browsing our website, you have the ability to accept or decline cookies by modifying the settings in your browser, although you may not be able to take full advantage of the frog website if you do so. In particular, you may be required to accept cookies in order to complete certain actions on our website. You do not need to have cookies turned on, however, to use/navigate through many parts of our website, except access to certain of frog's web pages that require a login and password.

REVISIONS TO THIS PRIVACY POLICY We reserve the right to amend this policy or any part of it from time to time. If we make any substantial changes in the way we use your personal information we will make that information available by posting a notice on this site or updating this policy. Please review the policy periodically for changes.